Spotted at the Mince Pie Run

This time we have only one 'Spotted', but three machines, all of them Tomos A3s.

There are always a few examples of the Tomos moped at our runs, so they are overdue for a feature. These three were at the Mince Pie Run in January. The blue one is an A3 K, the red one an A3 MS and the silver—another A3 K.

TOMOS (TOvarna MOtornih koles Sežana) was founded in Yugoslavia in July 1954 to produce two-wheelers under a license agreement with the Austrian company Steyr-Daimler-Puch. In October 1954, the Yugoslav government started to build the Tomos factory in Koper, but this would not be completed until 1959 so, in the meantime, production started in 1955 in temporary premises.

To start with, Tomos made 250cc motor cycles, 125cc scooters and mopeds. The Colibri mopeds were like the fan-cooled Puch MS50. Mopeds formed the bulk of Tomos production and, in the early 1960s, the larger machines were dropped from the range.

The Automatic range of mopeds, styled along the lines of the Puch Maxi, was started at the beginning of the 1970s. The A3 series began in 1973 with the opening of a new modernized and automated production line.

The A3 range was popular as utility transport in the UK, mainly thanks to the way they were sold. Tomos mopeds were sold through some of the major mail-order catalogue companies, and could also be bought in Woolworth's shops.

With the break-up of Yugoslavia in the early 1990s, Tomos remained a state owned company in Slovenia. State ownership ended in 1998 when Tomos was sold to the Slovenian company, Hidria

The A3 is regarded as the 'classic' Tomos design and, when Tomos launched its current moped, the Classic XL45, it based its styling on the old A3 models.

Yes, you can still buy a brand-new Tomos—one of the few 'proper' mopeds still made in this age of the 50cc scooter. The '45' in XL45 refers, not to its engine size, but its maximum speed: 45km/h (about 28mph) ... so a little slower than the traditional A3 because it needs to conform to the Europe-wide AM licence category.

Club News

New member

We don't normally mention all the new members that join the club, but this time we're making an exception. Kevin Mallone has recently signed-up. Kevin was one of the four original founder members of the EACC back in 1981, so that brings us up to having three of the four still belonging to the club. However, that's not the real reason for mentioning Kevin. The real reason is that it gives us the perfect excuse to reprint this 30-year-old picture of Kevin and his Cyclomaster:

Dates

We got the date of the Duloe Daffodil Dash wrong in most copies of the last edition of The MAC. Since the wrong date wasn't even a Sunday, we hope you spotted the mistake. The correct date is Sunday 22nd March.

The dates of the Peninsularis and Coprolite runs (marked as 'provisional' in the last issue) are confirmed for 12th July and 13th September.

Norfolk Notes.

We have had a good response to our regular meeting night on the second Wednesday of each month; to start things off we have been meeting at various pubs in the county. We started in November at the Victoria Inn, Martham where six of us met up. Five at the Bridge Inn, Acle for December, five again for January when we went to the Victoria, Hockering. Then back to Martham at the reopened Kings Arms, where it was good to have nine of us in my local. Attendees range from Ian who was an early member of the original EACC to new members of the club. Topics of conversation have been very varied and it very often transpires that there is a shared interest outside this hobby that brings us together.

Regular contact is maintained by e-mail with help from Matthew 'no-ped' Hodder who has a 100% attendance record and is my Des for the away meetings, Thanks. (If anybody wants to come off the list or be added on please inform me.)

The next meeting will be at Attleborough Snooker Club, London Road, Attleborough, NR17 2BX, from 7.30pm, but as the evenings start to draw out it is hoped we will be able to visit places of interest, collections, sheds, etc, and for May, June, July, & August we will have evening runs.

New events for the club already arranged are 26th April, FBHVC Drive it Day to Norfolk & Suffolk Aviation Museum, Flixton, near Norfolk. The museum is open from 10.00am–5.00pm, arrive as early as you like and leave as late but it would be good to have as many as possible there from 12.00–2.00

20th & 21st June, Journey Through the Ages Vintage Rally & Country Fair, Palgrave, near Norfolk. EACC Stand both days and Saturday evening run. Book in with the organisers for one or both days; Gary (ex Horham) will be on the gate to welcome us in at any time.

July 3rd, 4th & 5th, Norfolk Camping Weekend, Martham, (believe it or not) in Norfolk. (See the Calendar for more details.) No need to book, turn up for any part or all weekend.

Date to be confirmed. Grand Broadland Tour. All day event of approximately 70 miles.

B 'Mick' Ritchie

We're sad to report the death of Mick Ritchie who passed away on Monday January 26th after a very short illness. Mick was a regular attendee at EACC events in Suffolk—not always on a moped for he sometimes came in his Lomax three-wheeler. Our condolences go out to Mick's wife, Mary.

David Watson writes: Such sad news, we didn't see him at that many runs but what a great guy, so full of life and generous with his donation to us on the Lands End to Lowestoft event. He had many interests and he would share his tales with us; I think his first love after his wife was the Lomax, a hobby they could share together, like they did when they popped in to the start of the Bromeswell event last year.
