These are the Simplex gears we fit to all our sports models. Many professional riders stake their reputation on gears made by Simplex.

On every bike we make you'll find Weinmann alloy brakes. Simply because we don't know any that are better.

We use tyres made by Semperit. That's not unique. So do Mercedes, VW, Audi and Fiat.

Nobody builds a bike better than Puch.

We start with the frame. And give it coat after coat of enamel so hard it's actually tougher than the toughest rider. And stronger than the strongest weather.

We fit Weinmann alloy brakes. Because we know you can't take chances with safety.

We build reflectors into many of our pedals to make you extra-visible at night.

We use bearings where others don't. So when a little play develops, you simply take it up. Instead of stripping it down.

To our sports models we fit Simplex gears. Gears that professional riders stake their reputation on in races like the 'Tour de France'.

We use tyres made by Semperit. The very same make that Mercedes choose for their high-speed luxury cars.

And every single component we fit is stronger than is really necessary.

The result is the strongest, safest range of cycles that we know how to make.

Which is true of every model in the big Puch range.

From the nifty folding model you can pop in the back of a car to the sleek sports machines we make for budding champions.

ycle with the 5 year guarantee

From the fabulous Mini-Sprint for kids to the tough tourer for parents.

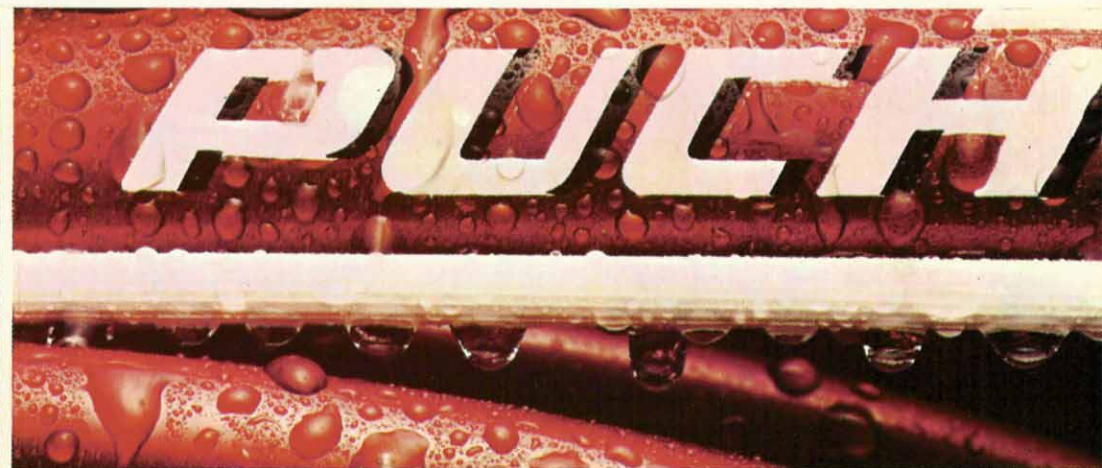

And when we've made our better bikes, we want you to know how much confidence we have in them.

So we slap a guarantee on every one. A guarantee that's five times better than you'll find on most bikes. A guarantee for five whole years.

We admit it's an extraordinarily good guarantee. But then, we know better than anyone just how extraordinarily good are our bikes.

Coat after coat of super hardwearing enamel goes onto every Puch frame.

We put ball-bearings in all our pedals for longer life. Many have reflectors too.
