

The all-British Moped with a great name behind it

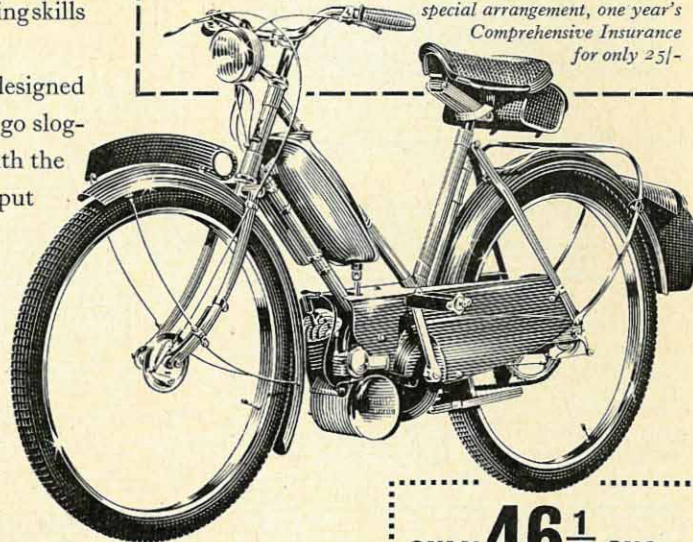

If you are in the market for a Moped bearing a famous, respected British name—here it is! No-one knows more than Raleigh about making fine, dependable cycles. Here is the result of applying all Raleigh's knowledge, experience and engineering skills to the design and production of a Moped. The Raleigh Moped is a real workaday job, designed and built to be simple and safe to ride, and to go slogging on mile after mile, month after month, with the minimum of attention. And before it was ever put on the market, a complete servicing and spare parts network was set up throughout Great Britain.
